

KT Process: Project Discipline Ensures Results

Results

- All coached projects delivered results in half the original time frames.
- EBITDA of 11 projects in excess of $4Million.
- Project management approach and discipline now introduced as standard across business.

Client

A leading healthcare company needed to ensure its Six Sigma program was delivering promised results. The company had invested heavily in Six Sigma training but projects were too slow to achieve results.

Challenge

The Greenbelt project managers had spent considerable time out of the business already through training. Further support had to be done “on the job.”

Approach

- Project audit of current projects/status.
- Project Management Learn & Do training to complement existing Six Sigma skills.
- Re-scoped some projects.
- Weekly coaching of project managers using Six Sigma concepts and Project Management discipline.
